NLB Hackathon 2021

Meet the experts / Round Table 1 & Experts DAY

dr. Urban Sušnik

Modelling and Validation unit in the Global Risk department at NLB d.d.

Urban Sušnik began his career as an assistant lecturer and researcher at the Faculty of Economics, University of Ljubljana.

While working in academia he quickly discovered that he liked swimming against the current, focusing on research topics which the majority of his peers neglected, but which have since then become mainstream (issues concerning income distribution, sustainability etc.).

After having joined the Modelling and Validation unit in the Global Risk department at NLB d.d. he upgraded his knowledge of econometrics with new Machine Learning techniques.

Believing that we don't know half as much as we think we do, he enjoys the agnostic nature of these techniques, while remaining grounded about mankind's attempts to forecast its own future.

Apart from developing models he enjoys creating various dynamic web apps, often used to deploy models in a user-friendly fashion.
